HOW TO LOCATE SOMEONE IN THE UNITED STATES

(The U.S. Embassy has no records of persons living in the United States).

IF YOU WANT TO LOCATE SOMEONE IN THE UNITED STATES, TRY:

- Making an internet search. Many popular browsers have "people search" capabilities, visit the following websites:
http://www.addresses.com/white_pages.php
<http://www.whoare.com>
- Consulting the telephone book from the city where you think the person may live (telephone books are available at

ICANA - Centro Lincoln Library
Maipú 672/680
Ciudad de Buenos Aires
Tel: 5382-1536
- Writing or calling directly to the police authorities of the last city address known. Generally the police will respond only in emergency cases. Your letter or call should provide all possible information and give the reasons for desiring to contact this person or members of his/her family.
- Consulting with a private investigator in the United States (who will charge a fee for services).
- Contacting the nearest Argentine Consulate in the United States. (see below)
- Contacting the Social Security Administration: The Social Security Administration (SSA) will forward letters on humanitarian grounds in cases involving mental anguish, serious illness, or a death in the immediate family. SSA can attempt to pass a message to the missing person through the last known employer. However, since there is no provision for reporting delivery, the inquirer might never find out whether the letter arrived at its destination.

In the absence of a compelling humanitarian need, SSA can still forward a letter for a fee of $ 3.00. Payment may be made by postal money order or registration, certified, or cashier's check payable to the Social Security Administration. Persons wishing to use this service should write to the:

Office of Public Inquiries
Social Security Administration
Baltimore, MD 21235

Explain why the request is being made, and include the name, date, and place of birth and social security number of the missing person. If the social security number is missing, the inquirer should include other identifying information, such as the name of the person's father or mother's maiden name.
