

National Youth Science Camp 2016: Participants

AGUERRE, Nicolás, Zapala, Neuquén

My name is Nicolás Aguerre. I was born in Zapala where I live. Zapala is a small town in the province of Neuquén. I am 18 years old. I love the arts in general and specially music. I play the keyboard and the guitar. I have also been performing with local bands for the last three years. I attend EPET 11 School, a technical institution. I am in the last year. I have always been interested in computer sciences. At 12, I started learning different programming languages, which I found really interesting, as well as different development platforms. My goal is to develop new technologies that will hopefully help people around the world in many ways. In my spare time, I love learning new things; reason why I participated in the Science Fair. Participating in the Fair gave me the possibility to share common interests with other people. When I finish school, I would like to study Engineering at the University of Buenos Aires, and hopefully continue to discover new fields of science.

LUNA, Débora, Juan Bautista Alberdi, Buenos Aires

My name is Débora Luna. I live in Juan Bautista Alberdi, a little town located in the province of Buenos Aires. I am sixteen years old. I love sciences and arts. I am a curious person and I enjoy learning new things all the time as much as challenging myself. I have always loved to express myself. I participated in the Biology and Maths Olympics as well as the Science Fair. I play the piano, the violin and the guitar. In my spare time, I like drawing, painting and reading. I love God, my family and my cats. My dream is to do something big and valuable for people. I want to live my life as a great adventure, full of happiness and valuable moments. My hopes are to be loved, love everything and everyone around me since this is one of the highest aspirations human beings can reach.
